A Life Size model for your New Home

Working on your new single-family home? For non-architects it may be difficult to imagine space when only reading plans. An Austrian company now offers an alternative: Experience your new home in a purpose-built 1: 1 model. "Eins:eins planbar by St. Pölten (near Vienna) based architect Daniel Gruber will build your house in 1:1 scale inside a hall. This allows also for changes in the floor plan design. Not surprisingly, this new service is Also used by prefabricated housing developers before they go into the final production of new models. All you need to do is to send your plans 38 hours in advance.

Pretty Small. Grand Living with Limited Space

As our largest cities grow more dense, residents across the globe are turning the keys to smaller homes, and with it, embracing the limitations of a reduced floor plan with endless creativity. Pretty Small presents some of the innovative ways contemporary city-dwellers are setting up their spaces of solitude.

From the best ways to manage storage, to adapting rooms for use at various times of the day, this book showcases the many opportunities homeowners have in becoming inventive with their space. Pretty Small provides both inspiration and guidance on anything from hidden storage compartments to ingenious bike mounts, and everything that lives in between.

This book embarks on an exciting tour to a number of new dwellings which share limited floor plan areas while still offering surprising spatial qualities. Is this the solution we were looking for when striving for less consumption of ground in urbanised areas and of energy.
